Exchanging practices to recognize and validate competences of social and educational professionals (2014/2016) 2014-1-IT01-KA200-002490

COMWORK is an international participatory research project.

In each country (Italy, Spain, Portugal, Bulgaria) we analyse needs and practices in the training of professionals working with NEETS (Not in Education, Employment or Training).

Social and educational workers are key figures for many inclusion and employability policies success, with particular attention to those who are engaged in services dealing with NEET.

NEETS are nowadays important beneficiaries of the EU resources and recipients of several professional services.

COMWORK aims to

- disseminate the application of competence analysis model in social work field
- share the model with policy makers and companies
- promote the use of European tools to recognize non formal and informal competences
- develop a Guidance and Training Model for recognize and validate competences of social and educational professionals
- produce a Learning Unit for informal and non-formal competences of socio-educational professionals dealing with NEETS
